Sinclair Community College
444 E. Third St.
Dayton, OH 45402

Master Syllabus

NSG 1100 - Human Response Assessment

Division: Health Sciences

Department: Nursing

Credit Hour Total: 4.0 Lecture Hrs: 3.0 Lab Hrs: 2.5 Clinic: 0.5

Other Prerequisite(s): Other Acceptance in Nursing Program

Date Revised: April 2013

Course Description:

Discusses scope and practice of nursing profession and philosophy/framework of Sinclair Nursing Program. Introduces human response, nursing process, evidence-based practice, and clinical judgment. Develops assessment techniques to identify normal/abnormal human responses. Provides a foundation in patient-centered care, communication, health promotion/disease prevention, safety, and documentation. Forty five (45) class, thirty seven (37) lab, and eight (8) clinical hours per semester.

General Education Outcomes:

- Critical Thinking/Problem Solving

Course Outcomes:

Critical thinking and nursing process
Identify the relationships among critical thinking, nursing process, evidence-based practice, clinical judgment, and quality improvement.

Assessment Method: Locally developed exams
Performance Criteria:

Correctly answer at least 80% of examination questions.

Scope and practice
Describe the scope and practice of nursing.

Assessment Method: Locally developed exams
Performance Criteria:

Correctly answer at least 80% of examination questions.

Patient-centered care
Discuss patient-centered care of patients using human response, collaboration, prioritization, delegation of tasks, safety, caring, and documentation.

Assessment Method: Locally developed exams
Performance Criteria:

Correctly answer at least 80% of examination questions.

Normal and abnormal responses
Identify normal and abnormal responses to stressors.

Assessment Method: Locally developed exams
Performance Criteria:

Correctly answer at least 80% of examination questions.

Assessment and communication techniques
Use specific assessment and communication techniques to gather data from patients for health promotion/disease prevention.

Assessment Method: Behavioral observations
Performance Criteria:

Accurately perform critical tasks related to patient assessment during simulated activity.

Assessment Method: Performance appraisals
Performance Criteria:

Achieve at least a 3 on the 5 point rubric of the Clinical Performance Evaluation Tool.

Outline:

Scope and practice of nursing
Foundations of assessment
Human responses
Nursing process
Physiological assessment